Title	William H. Loy and Company Postcard
Collection	John Martin Smith Postcard Collection
Description	This is a picture postcard of William H. Loy and Company Furniture and Undertaking at the corner of East Seventh and Cedar streets in Auburn, Indiana. The postcard shows a three-story industrial building on the corner of two streets. On the first two floors are large windows. In the first-floor windows are figures and illegible signs. On the second floor, several chest of drawers with mirrors can be seen. The third floor has seven tall windows with decorative arched pieces over each of them. The top of the building has a stone pattern as decoration. Between the third floor is a sign that says: "Furniture Wm H. Loy and Co. Undertaking." The side of the building has nothing on the first two floors and seven windows similar to those on the front on the third floor. Down the street on the left side of the postcard are several commercial buildings. There is an early automobile parked down the street. There are telephone or electrical wires on both streets, and streetlamps down both streets and in the foreground on the right side of the postcard. On the front of the postcard is printed: "Corner East Seventh and Cedar Streets, Auburn, Ind." The picture is black and white except for the sky, which has been colored blue. The back of the postcard is unused. The postcard was published by the Auburn Post Card Manufacturing Company.
